1. Basis of Presentation and Ability to Continue as a Going Concern

The interim financial statements included herein, presented in accordance with Canadian generally accepted accounting principles, have been prepared by the Company, without audit, pursuant to the rules and regulations of the British Columbia Securities Commission. Certain information and footnote disclosures normally included in financial statements prepared in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles have been condensed or omitted pursuant to such rules and regulations, although the Company believes that the disclosures are adequate to make information present not misleading.

These statements reflect all adjustments, consisting of normal recurring adjustments, which in the opinion of management are necessary for fair presentation of the information contained therein. It is suggested that these interim financial statements be read in conjunction with the financial statements of the company for the year ended September 30, 2010 and notes thereto included in the Company's year-end filing. The Company follows the same accounting policies in the preparation of interim reports.

Results of operations for the interim period are not necessarily indicative of annual results.

These interim financial statements have been prepared on the basis of a going concern, which contemplates the realization of assets and the satisfaction of liabilities in the normal course of business. The Company has experienced recurring losses, has not generated profitable operations since inception and as at December 31, 2010 has a loss of $172,107 for the three months then ended and has accumulated losses of $13,266,781 since inception. Should the Company be unable to continue as a going concern, the realization of assets may be at amounts significantly less than carrying values. The continuation of the Company as a going concern is dependent on its ability to obtain additional equity capital to finance existing operations, attaining commercial production from its mineral properties, and attaining future profitable operations. These financial statements do not include any adjustments to the recoverability and classification of recorded asset amounts and classification of liabilities that might be necessary should the Company be unable to continue as a going concern.

2. Significant Accounting Policies

The Company's significant accounting policies are consistent with those reported in the annual financial statements as at September 30, 2010.

Recently Issued Accounting Pronouncements

a) Consolidated Financial Statements: Section 1601, Consolidated Financial Statements and Section 1602, Non-controlling Interests replaces Section 1600. Section 1601 establishes standards for the preparation of consolidated financial statements. Section 1602 establishes standards for accounting, for a non-controlling interest in a subsidiary in consolidated financial statements, subsequent to a business combination. Section 1602 is equivalent to the corresponding provisions of International Financial Reporting Standard IAS 27, Consolidated and Separate Financial Statements. These standards are effective for the Company for interim and annual financial statements beginning on January 1, 2011. Early adoption is permitted. The Company has adopted the new standard and has determined there is no impact on its financial statements on the adoption of these new standards.

b) Business Combination: Section 1582, Business Combinations, which replaces Section 1581, Business Combinations, establishes standards for the accounting for a business combination. It is the Canadian GAAP equivalent to International Financial Reporting Standard IFRS 3, Business Combinations. This standard is effective for the Company for interim and annual financial statements beginning on January 1, 2011. Early adoption is permitted. The Company has adopted the new standard and has determined there is no impact on its financial statements on the adoption of these new standards.

c) International financial reporting standards ("IFRS"): In 2006, AcSB published a new strategic plan that will significantly affect financial reporting requirements for Canadian companies. The AcSB strategic plan outlines the convergence of Canadian Generally Accepted Accounting Policies ("Canadian GAAP") with International Financial Reporting Standards ("IFRS") over an expected five year transitional period. In February 2008, the AcSB announced that 2011 is the changeover date for publicly-listed companies to use IFRS, replacing Canadian GAAP. The date is for interim and annual financial statements relating to fiscal years beginning on or after January 1, 2011. The transition date of January 1, 2011 will require the restatement for comparative purposes of amounts reported by the Company for the year ended September 30, 2011. The Company has completed its IFRS conversion review and is actively determining the impact of the transition date (October 1, 2010) balances.

The share purchase warrants have not been valued as the contingent equity instrument is based on a contingent event which could not be practically determined. These share purchase warrants are included in Note 5(d) summary as they are potentially anti-dilutive.

(2) Each unit is comprised of one common share and one-half share purchase warrant entitling the holder to purchase one common share at an exercisable price of $0.50 until November 30, 2012. The share purchase warrants have not been valued as the contingent equity instrument is based on a contingent event which could not be practically determined. These share purchase warrants are included in Note 5(d) summary as they are potentially anti-dilutive.

6. Related party transactions

a) The due to related parties balance represents amounts payables to a number of individual shareholders (two are also directors) and companies controlled by an individual shareholder which are unsecured, bear no interest and are repayable on demand.

b) During the period, amounts paid to companies controlled by directors and officers of the Company were as follows:

	December 31, 2010	September 30, 2010
Included in Property Exploration Costs
Equipment rental	$ 75,600	$ 211,275
Shop rent	18,000	112,000
Contractor's fees	69,154	166,100
Field supervision	24,000	96,000
	$ 186,754	$ 585,375
Included in Operations
Management fees	$ 6,000	$ 24,000
Rent	3,600	14,400
	$ 9,600	$ 38,400

These transactions are in the normal course of operations and are measured at the exchange value (the amount of consideration established and agreed to by the related parties), which approximates the arm's length equivalent value for sales of product.

7. Financial Instruments

All financial instruments are classified into one of five categories: held-for-trading, held-to-maturity investments, loans and receivables, available-for-sale financial assets, or other financial liabilities. All financial instruments and derivatives are measured on the trade date at fair value upon initial recognition. Subsequent measurement depends on the initial classification of the instrument.

Held-for-trading financial assets are measured at fair value, with changes in fair value recorded in net income. Available-for-sale financial assets are measured at fair value, with changes in fair value recorded in other comprehensive income until the instrument is derecognized or impaired. Loans and receivables, held-to-maturity investments and other financial liabilities are measured at amortized cost. All derivative instruments, including embedded derivatives, are recorded in the balance sheet at fair value unless they qualify for the normal sales and purchases exemption. Changes in the fair value of derivatives that are not exempt are recorded in the statement of operations. Transaction costs on the acquisition of financial assets and liabilities that are classified as other than held-for-trading are expensed in the period in which they occur.

The following is a summary of the accounting model the Company has elected to apply to each of its significant categories of financial instruments outstanding:

Cash and short term deposits	Held-for-trading
Amounts receivable	Loans and receivables
Due from related party	Loans and receivables
Accounts payable and accrued liabilities	Other financial liabilities
Long-term debt	Other financial liabilities
Due to related parties	Other financial liabilities

7. Financial Instruments - Continued

Fair value of financial assets and liabilities

The carrying amount for cash and short term deposits that are not restricted, receivables, accounts payable and accrued liabilities on the balance sheet approximate fair value because of the limited term of these instruments.

The carrying amount of long-term debt approximates fair value as the rate used is similar to market interest rates for similar debt with similar terms.

The carrying amount of due from related party approximates fair value to the demand feature of this financial instrument.

Overview

The Company has exposure to the following risks from its use of financial instruments:

i. Credit risk

The Company's exposure to credit risk is on its cash and short-term deposits, and receivables.

Cash and cash equivalents consist of cash bank balances and short-term deposits with original maturity dates of ninety days or less.

Amounts receivable consists of interest receivable on short-term investments and GST receivable.

The carrying amount of cash and cash equivalents, short-term deposits, and amounts receivable represents the maximum credit exposure.

ii. Liquidity risk

The Company ensures that there is sufficient capital in order to meet short-term business requirements, after taking into account the Company's holdings of cash, cash equivalents and short-term deposits. The Company's cash and cash equivalents are invested in business accounts and short-term interest bearing instruments and are available on demand. The Company's short-term investment is available on demand without penalty.

iii. Market risk

The Company is subject to normal market risks including fluctuations in foreign exchange rates and interest rate. While the Company manages its operations in order to minimize exposure to these risks, the Company has not entered into any derivatives or contracts to hedge or otherwise mitigate this exposure.

The Company is exposed to interest rate fluctuations on its short-term interest bearing instruments as they are based on floating rates of interest. As at September 30, 2010, the Company had $200,000 (September 30, 2008 - $3,227,664) invested in short-term interest bearing instruments.

The Company is also exposed to interest rate fluctuations on its long-term debt as the instrument is based on the bank's prime lending rate. The prime interest rate was 2.25% for the year ended September 30, 2010 and a 10% change in the prime rate would have a $125 impact to the statement of operations.

The Board of Directors approves and monitors the risk management processes

8. Capital management

The Company manages its capital to ensure that there are adequate capital resources to safeguard the Company's ability to continue as a going concern through the optimization of its capital structure. The capital structure consists of shareholder's equity comprising of share capital, share purchase warrants, contributed surplus and deficit. The basis for the Company's capital structure is dependent on the Company's exploration programs.

The properties in which the Company currently has an interest are in the exploration stage; as such the Company's capital is dependent on the amount it can externally finance. In order to carry out the planned exploration and pay for administrative costs, the Company will spend its existing working capital and raise additional amounts as needed. The Company will continue to develop existing properties and seek to acquire interests in additional properties if it feels there is sufficient geologic or economic potential and if it has adequate financial resources for such activities.

Management reviews its capital management approach on an ongoing basis and believes that this approach, given the relative size of the Company, is reasonable. There were no changes in the Company's approach to capital management during the period ended December 31, 2010. The Company is not subject to externally imposed capital requirements.

9. Contingencies and Commitments

There is a claim against the Company for unpaid amounts under a service agreement. The management of the Company has filed a counterclaim and is of the opinion that the claim is without merit. The total amount of the claim has been recorded in the accounts payable and accrued liabilities.

The Company has entered into an operating lease with two directors and an unrelated party for the property it once owned. The lease is accounted for as an operating lease. The terms of the lease are for three years expiring June 2012 with monthly rent of $9,000. There is no bargain purchase price and the lease reverts to month-to-month at the end of the third year.

The commitments over the next three years are:

January, 2011 – September 2011	$	81,000
October 2011 – June 2012	$	72,000

10. Subsequent Events

Subsequent to December 31, 2010, holders of share purchase warrants exercised 1,466,535 warrants for total proceeds of $210,784.
